

Ideas are all right if carried out. The directors of the Chamber of Commerce met Monday night and outlined a constructive program for Cameron. There was real enthusiasm. With the proper co-operation we shall be able to do great things for Cameron in 1928. President Peyton of the chamber, is starting out with progressive policies. He will make many changes. The body needs shaking up every few months.

An all time secretary will make the Chamber of Commerce a success. Without a paid all time secretary, only a limited program can be carried out. This has been proven by years of tested progress by the chambers of commerce over the nation.

Senator Morris Sheppard is a Democrat. He cannot forget that during the time he was achieving victory for prohibition that a considerable company of his fellow democrats disagreed with him on that subject, but when he became the nominee of the party they voted for him. Now that Governor Smith of New York, who does not agree with the present prohibition laws, is the nominee of the party, Senator Sheppard takes the stump for the party. Those who heard Senator Sheppard in Hearn on Tuesday afternoon do not doubt his sincere support of the New York governor.

I saw in the audience at Hearn Monday a number of political spies, one representing the Home and State. They are after Morris Sheppard. Two years from now the prohibition forces in Texas, especially the political leaders of the dries, will be opposed to Senator Sheppard for his stand for the Democratic party. It is no longer a secret that Governor Moody is considering the race against Sheppard. By voting the ticket Moody hopes to hold the regulars in line. By refusing to aid the party cause, he will get the support of the Anti-Saloon League and the Ku Klux. Senator Sheppard is the author of the 18th Amendment. He is opposed to the views held by Governor Smith and says as much in his speeches. Prohibition, he declares is written permanently into the constitution of the country. As for me I am for Senator Sheppard. I have always voted for and supported him. I have not been disappointed in him as a man or public servant.

Prohibition, great as may have been its moral and economic achievements is far from perfect. Under the Republican rule it has not been enforced. If Hoover is elected it will not be enforced. It is unfortunate that Democrats are blind to all other considerations. If Governor Smith is defeated for the presidency and the Republican party is continued under its present industrial philosophy, individual effort will be stifled and the last vest of right of the people will be put under earnings for great corporations. The Republican party has conspired with the name of Lincoln but followed the leadership of Hamilton.

Franklin D. Roosevelt has been nominated for Governor of New York by the Democrats. Speaking in Georgia he said:

"In the summer of 1918 I was asked to be the Democratic candidate for the governorship, but as I was starting for overseas war work I could not run. I talked about the availability of Alfred E. Smith with President Wilson. He said to me: 'I should be entirely satisfied with Smith's nomination. He seems to be a man who has responded in an extraordinary manner to the awakening forces of a new day and the compulsion of changing circumstances. He seems to have noteworthy support from organizations and individuals who are working in one way or another for the improvement of government.'"

"I mentioned that Smith was a Catholic and Wilson said: 'The day of the political consideration of that has gone by. People are every day reading the casualty lists of American boys of every creed.'"

Origin of Jury Not Known Says Judge Watson; Tells How They Are Selected

BY JOHN WATSON
Judge 20th Judicial District

The problem of jury service confronts all trial courts, and the citizen who is called upon to perform this important and honorable duty. It is regrettable that many good citizens feel warranted in using all honorable means to evade this part of their patriotic and obligatory duty, and yet they would vociferously resent any legislative or judicial attempt to impair the constitutional right of trial by jury, and that right should remain inviolable.

How are our jurors selected in counties having no city of 20,000 population? Our statutes provide that the District Court of each county shall at each term thereof appoint three Jury Commissioners for said court, and they must be free holders, have no suit in court requiring a jury, residents of different portions of the county, intelligent and able to read and write the English language.

These Commissioners select from the citizens of the different portions of the County, liable to serve as jurors, the number directed by the court free from legal exemptions of good moral character, of sound judgment, well informed, able to read and write, not having been convicted of felony; not under indictment or other legal accusation of theft or of any felony, to serve as petit jurors at the next term. They also select sixteen men from the citizens of the different portions of the County, usually two from each justice precinct, from which to select a grand jury.

The Commissioners, when directed by the court, select a designated number from the body of the County to constitute a special venire list, but they are not to be used until after the petit jurors for the term have been drawn on a venire one time during such term. A special venire is issued only in capital cases. After impaneling 12 grand jurors, nine may act. Twelve men constitute a legal grand or petit jury in the district court. In Capital cases, each, the State and the Defendant, is entitled to fifteen peremptory challenges; in non-capital felonies ten an offense which may be punishable by death or by confinement in prison for life.

HUNDREDS HERE FOR TEACHERS INSTITUTE

250 MILAM TEACHERS ATTEND TWO DAY INSTITUTE HERE

Between 250 and 300 teachers representing the 78 white schools of the common school districts and the six schools of the independent districts in Milam county, attended the County Institute held here last Thursday and Friday at the C. H. Yoe High School.

This is the second year in succession that the county institute has been held in preference to the previous tri-county meeting at Belton. Mrs. K. K. Robbins, county superintendent, said that the teachers seemed delighted with the program and the work. Her opinion is that the county institute is specific and definite for she knows just what the teachers need and can supply it.

Out of town speakers on the program were Dean T. H. Shelby, Bureau of Extension, University of Texas; L. R. Traver of Chicago, who spoke interestingly on classroom assignments; Miss Rena Weider of Philadelphia, a specialist in primary reading; G. B. Wilcox of A. and M. College, whose addresses in the Intermediate section drew immense crowds; Miss Irene Prewitt of Austin, who explained how to use the adopted state writing text book; Miss Nina Glass, principal of the Sanger Avenue school of Waco, who did demonstration work in the primary section and S. E. Green of Dallas whose address on the dictionary and its use was one of the most inspiring on the entire program. On Friday afternoon Hon. W. G. Gillis of Cameron addressed the general session on Boy Scout work. He traced the history of the scout movement in the United States and gave a review of the work of Boy Scouts in Milam County.

At the opening session of the Institute Miss Patsy McGregor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude McGregor, a member of the business and professional Women's club on behalf of the club and as a greeting from it presented the Institute with a floor basket filled with lovely red and white roses.

Teachers attending the Institute were entertained in private homes in Cameron.

At the Interscholastic League meeting officials were elected: Thomas A. Fisher, Cameron, Director General; L. Van Perkins, Cameron, director of athletics; H. M. Roark, Thorndale, director of debate. C. S. Miles, Rockdale, director of declamation; R. C. Davis, Gause, director of spelling; Lloyd Patterson, Milano, director of essay writing; C. R. Middleton, Sharp school, Buckholts R. F. D., director of arithmetic contest; Miss Eula Cooper, Branchville school, Maysfield R. F. D., art appreciation contest; Mrs. Kathryn K. Robbins, county superintendent, director of 3-R contests in which all one and two teacher schools compete for first places in reading, writing and arithmetic and for championship in rural pentathlon, composed of various athletic events.

The institute voted to continue choral singing contests and school exhibits for one, two and three teacher schools, as these two features of the meet are two of the most desirable and attractive ones.

The County Interscholastic Meet will be held in Cameron next April. Superintendent Thomas A. Fisher extended the invitation and it was unanimously accepted by the Institute.

Gray Timber Wolf Caught In Chase Near Rice School

A large gray timber wolf, said to have caused great loss to farmers in the neighborhood of the Rice School House, has been run down and killed by hunters.

Early last Friday morning the wolf was brought to bay by the celebrated Walker hounds of Jeff Cochran, V. L. Angell and E. J. Pfardrescher, after a race of one hour and forty minutes.

The dogs had difficulty in their fight with the wolf so a Winchester was used and the wolf was shot. The wolf was exhibited here early that morning to the County Judge and the men will receive their bounty of $10.

Interest is running high among hunters. It is said that a large number of wolves are to be found here. Near Buckholts the hunters believe a large lobo and mate have come in from the wilds of West Texas.

The dogs in the fight on last Friday were badly lacerated by the fangs of the beast.

Miss Marie Lorenz Talks on Health to Teachers Institute

The Herald is in receipt of a copy of an address delivered by Miss Lorenz of the Cameron Hospital to the assembled teachers at the Milam County Institute here last Friday.

This address, one of the best papers written in years on the need of Health in the Home and School, will be presented in our next issue.

On account of rush of business this week and lack of space the paper could not be printed in this issue.

FICTION HAS WIDE APPEAL TO BOOK LOVERS HERE; MYSTERY STORIES ALSO FASCINATE

A majority of the book lovers in Cameron are unusually fond of a thrilling mystery story, according to Mrs. William Henderson, owner and manager of a Circulating Library at her home 20 West Seventh Street. Among the mystery stories which are most popular at the library are the following: Two Flights Up by Rinehart, a love story with just enough of mystery to add excitement. The Seven Sisters by Lily; The Mystery of the Blue Train by Agatha Christie; The Bat by Rinehart and Hopwood and The Greene Murder Case by Van Dine.

The last named is now in demand possibly more than any other volume in the library. In a recent issue of a current magazine there appeared an article by Mr. Van Dine, which is only a non de plum, in which he tells how he came to write the mystery stories that have made him famous. The first of these built around the hero-sleuth, Philo Vance, was The

PATIENTS TESTIFY TO HEALING BY PRAYER

VARIOUS AILMENTS MENTIONED IN COMPANY WHO TELL OF FAITH RELIEF

Interest in the Davis revival has been on a rapid increase this week. There has been splendid attendance at all the night services. One minister in attendance said the crowds were unusual for Cameron.

The first healing service was conducted Tuesday night. Seven persons were anointed with oil and prayed for. Mrs. Carrie Jonsch who lives on the Star route out of Cameron claimed to be healed of almost total deafness of 25 years' standing. Mrs. Jonsch said she had been unable to hear anything except very loud noises. When the secretary made out her healing card the conversation had to be written. Immediately after she was prayed for Mrs. Jonsch answered questions given by Evangelist Davis in an ordinary tone of voice. After leaving the platform she talked with friends and answered their questions.

Mrs. Minnie Koehler of Burlington also claimed to be healed. She was suffering with dizziness and heart trouble and other troubles. She said that the dizziness left instantly after she was prayed for and she was able to breathe normally.

Sunday night J. A. Thomas of Thornton testified of a marvelous healing of cancer of the stomach. He said he was prayed for by Evangelist Davis a year ago during a revival at Marlin. Thomas said he was healed instantly after having suffered for seven years and after being under a doctor's care all the time. In histestimony Thomas said he had gained 35 pounds and is able to do any kind of work on the farm.

Next week promises to bring a number of interesting services. On Sunday night Mrs. A. C. Ulrich of Waco will be present to testify of her healing of a very critical case of heart trouble. Mrs. Ulrich says she was at the point of death at the time of her healing. Evangelist Davis says the healing of Mrs. Ulrich was the most marvelous of any case in his ministry.

On Tuesday night of next week Dr. J. J. Greer of Waco, for 25 years pastor of Trinity Presbyterian church will be in the service and give a discourse on divine healing. Dr. Greer has been praying for the sick for 20 years.

Day services began this week. Rev. A. C. Lane preaches every morning at ten o'clock. The day services will continue during the remainder of the revival. Rev. Lane will preach at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, also.

PEYTON ACCEPTS PLACE AS CLUB PRESIDENT

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PLANS ACTIVE YEAR AS NEW DIRECTORS MEET

C. S. Peyton has accepted the presidency of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and will plan for an active year in behalf of Cameron.

In his address of acceptance on Monday night he made it plain that he considers the responsibility great and will do his best to measure up to its exactions.

Outlining the most progressive program in recent years the new President heard directors offer a series of suggestions for the coming term.

On next Monday night he will announce the selection of committee chairmen and the club will have under advisement the election of a secretary.

Following officers and directors were present: C. S. Peyton, president; J. D. Dobbins, vice-president; W. M. Cobb, secretary; directors: W. R. Hoover, J. C. Young, F. S. Lesovsky, F. J. Beckerman, F. E. Jackson, Geo. T. Graves, W. H. Shipp, W. O. Newton, B. V. Shirley and J. B. White.

George T. Graves, chairman of the committee to sell the stock of the cheese factory reported all the shares subscribed and two shares oversubscribed.

F. S. Lesovsky asked if any of those elected directors had declined to serve. President Peyton replied that J. C. Martin had advised him that it would be impossible for him to serve.

Mr. Lesovsky then nominated C. W. Lawrence for the vacancy. Mr. Lawrence was elected by acclamation.

J. C. Young reported that his company had one of its agricultural agents here Friday and he had heard of the organization of the cheese factory and offered to bring another man with him some time in the near future and start a campaign in the county for better bred cows and more interest in the dairy business. On motion an invitation was extended to them.

H. T. Jones who was present, asked to be allowed to make a proposition to the club and offered to put up a sign on the Waco road at Watt's Switch directing traffic by way of Cameron, Caldwell and Brenham instead of Bryan.

Mr. Beckerman suggested that Mr. Jones furnish the club a sketch of his proposed sign. Mr. Hoover moved that the matter be referred to a committee, seconded and carried. The chair appointed Messrs. Shipp, Hoover and White.

The Secretary asked for a committee to receive his financial statement. The President said he would appoint the committee later.

BACKFIELD RUNS WILD; YOEMEN BEAT HEARNE

FIRST GAME OF SEASON BRINGS VICTORY OF 32 TO 0 OVER RIVALS

The Yoemen swamped the lighter Hearne eleven by the score of 32 to 0 on the local gridiron last Friday. The Yoemen played a great game both offensively and defensively, considering the fact that Hearne penetrated the Yoemen line for only one first down and that one in the fourth quarter against the Yoe High reserves.

The local team started off like a whirlwind by scoring on a pass from Smith to Mondrik in the first few minutes of play. The Yoemen have a great aerial attack this year which will prove very menacing to their opponents.

The outstanding stars for the Yoemen on the defense were P. Graves, Rogers and Jesse Smith while 'Boots' Smith, Deer, Bob Young and Wilkerson starred on the offense. In Wilkerson and Young the Yoemen have two of the fastest backs in class B. football.

The feature play of the game was a run by 'Pepper' Young who received a kick off on his own five yard line and ran through the entire Hearne team for a touchdown.

Although the game was a one-sided affair it is easily seen that the Yoemen should develop the best team in years. They should be real contenders for the district and possibly the bi-district titles. The team is composed of ten letter men and thirty other youngsters who are intent on making the team. As most early games go, the one Friday showed the Yoemen to be better on defense than on offense, but with a little team work and cooperation there is no reason why the team should not be as strong on offense as on defense.

Misses Katherine Leath and Vada Todd visited in Waco last week.

Vote For Smith Is Worth $50 An Acre to Farmer, Says Republican Banker

KANKAKEE, Ill.—"Fifty dollars per acre for your vote!"

That slogan in big black type is appearing in local newspapers at the head of full page advertisements which are being paid for by F. G. Snow, local farmer and banker.

Mr. Snow, one of the leading Republicans in the community, points out that farm lands on the average are worth $50 less an acre than they were seven years ago and calls upon all Republicans to repudiate Hoover and the Coolidge policies. He said:

"Though I have always been a strong Republican, I would be a second Benedict Arnold to the people who patronize my bank if I supported my party's Presidential nominee this year. The prayer of the farmer today is not for rain but for the election of 'Al' Smith.

"As the head of a large bank in the farming district I daily come into contact with numerous farmers who face ruinous conditions. The advertisement is my contribution to defeat Herbert Hoover, the farmer's arch-enemy and the very man who was responsible for maintaining the fixed prices on wheat and hops, to the disadvantage of the farmer, during the war.

"I have had many requests from Indiana, Iowa, Tennessee, Kansas, South Dakota, Nebraska and Montana for permission to reprint it." In the advertisement, Mr. Snow said:

"Mr. Farmer, in pre-war days every acre of good land was worth from $25 to $75 more per acre than it is worth today, and for what reason? Farmers are now paying a tariff-protected price for nearly everything they buy, and because of a small surplus, are compelled to sell what they produce at prices unprotected by the tariff, for their tariff is absolutely ineffective because of a small surplus.

"Nearly four years ago Mr. Coolidge was elected President on a platform containing a strong farmer-aid plank. Since his election he has done nothing to relieve the depressed agricultural conditions, but has twice vetoed a farm-aid McNary-Haugen bill which was backed by a united agriculture and twice approved by Congress.

"I do not care whether you are Catholic or Protestant, wet or dry, the fact remains that the steady confiscation of farm lands is still going on to an alarming extent. I claim that a vote against Hoover is a vote for a $50 average increase in the price of the farmer's land, and a chance to return to prosperity for the tenant farmer as well."

The Motto That Counts

You may bring to your office and put in a frame
A motto as fine as its paint,
But if you're a crook when you are playing the game,
That motto won't make you a saint.

You can stick up the placards all over the hall.

But here is the word I announce, It is not the motto that hangs on the wall.

But the motto you live that counts. If the motto says "Smile" and you carry a frown.

"Do it now," and you linger and wait; If the motto says "Help" and you trample men down;
If the motto says "love" and you hate, You won't get away with the mottoes you stall,

For the truth will come forth with a bounce.

It is not the motto that hangs on the wall

But the motto you live that counts.

TERRORS OF TEXAS CLOUDBURST TOLD BY SETTLER WHO IS CAUGHT AND IMPERILED BY THE RUSHING OF CANYON WATERS

The Herald is in receipt of a communication from Mrs. Luther McDonald of Rockdale, Route 4, enclosing an interesting clipping from the Plain-view Evening Herald telling of the terrors of cloudbursts and how a pioneer was imperiled by canyon waters. In writing of the clipping Mrs. McDonald says: "I am sending you a very interesting true story of long ago that you may want to pass on to the readers of your paper." The following is the story:

When the High Plains (Llanos Escabados or Staked Plains), situated in the western part of the Panhandle of Texas, were settled the pioneers of this treeless and inviting wilderness were obliged to haul many of their elements farther east. Partly because supplies of various kinds from the set of its being bettered watered this eastern region was settled earlier, and a number of good-sized towns had grown up in it which were headquarters for supplies and for the transaction of sundry other business.

A settler named McCormick living in what is now Hale county left his home one bright spring morning with two horses and a buggy to go to the town of Haskell. It was a two day's drive each way.

After going off the 'Cap Rock', as the eastern escarpment of the High Plains was named by the earlier settlers the most of his route lay through a rough, hilly country, a sort of hodge podge of earth cut up by numerous water courses and appropriately called 'the Breakers' in distinction from the vast, smooth and level expanse of the High Plains stretching away to the west.

The journey to Haskell was made without the occurrence of any incident worthy of special mention. McCormick attended to his business, and early in the morning of the third day started for home.

On his outward trip he had crossed one of the forks of the Brazos River driving through it with his team and buggy, there being only a few inches of water in any part of the channel. He reached the bank of this river on his return about the middle of the afternoon. The weather was beautiful the sky cloudless, and nothing indicated the menacing flood that was sweeping down the river bed to overwhelm him.

It may be explained here that the rains which fall in this country in spring and summer frequently come quite suddenly, and are often very local in extent. When local, the down-pour is exceedingly heavy, the water occasionally falling in such a deluging quantity as to be a veritable cloudburst. At this time a cloudburst had just occurred several miles up the river, precipitating a foaming, surging volume of water many feet deep down the previously almost empty river channel.

Western people who are familiar with the rivers and streams of the west and southwest, and the very great variations in the amount of water that flows in them in the high and low stages, will readily understand the conditions which form the background of this narrative. But those living east of the Mississippi who are used to the steady and all-the-year-round flow of such rivers as the Hudson, the Potomac, the Tennessee and similar streams, are surprised to learn that during long periods of the year the Arkansas in eastern Colorado and western Kansas, the Canadian in the Texas Panhandle, the Rio Grande in New Mexico, the Gila in Arizona and others in this section of the United States are almost empty water-courses. Usually a small stream, maybe several small streams like eastern creeks, will glide over the sandy bottom and there is always water seeping through the sand beneath the surface, but except where there is quicksand the most of these rivers may be crossed by fording a large part of the year.

The writer has seen the Rio Grande at the international bridge between El Paso and Juarez with so little water in it that a man with rubber boots might easily wade across it from bank to bank. Interference by the revenue officers, which would almost certainly occur, would be likely to be the greatest difficulty experienced in such a crossing.

It is also a remarkable and interesting fact that the beds of some of these rivers are filled-up canyons. In some geologic periods they carried mighty streams that cut for themselves deep gorges through the face of the earth and as the waters gradually dried up the more slowly moving currents deposited the silt washed down from the higher country drained by them, until the present conditions resulted. For this reason the railroad bridge builders over the Canadian and similar streams have a great deal of trouble in making permanent bridges. Sometimes they have to sink piers more than a hundred feet into the oozy silt that composes the bottom of the river before they can find a solid foundation on which to erect the bridge structure.

When McCormick reached the Brazos on his return journey as stated above he drove out to about the middle of the river bed and stopped his horses to let them drink from a shallow stream that was sliding over the sandy bottom. While they were drinking he heard a low, sullen, hissing sound, and looking up the stream saw a sight that might well appall the bravest heart. Around about scarcely a hundred yards away a solid wall of water, filling the channel from bank to bank, was rushing upon him with the speed of a race horse. Man and team were suddenly confronted with a deadly peril.

He could not well turn back. The opposite bank was about as near as the one he had just left. To go forward was his wisest course, and instant action was imperative.

Hastily pulling up the reins he shouted to his horses and they plunged forward; but the deep, soft, clinging sand of the river bottom made their progress slow. They had not made half the distance to the bank when the waters of the flood began to seethe and rush about them, and immediately after they became too deep to ford.

McCormick was a strong swimmer, and as the buggy began to float he leaped out into the torrent and swam for the shore, trusting his horses to make their own way with the buggy. He reached the bank after a hard struggle in the swift current, and looked back at his team.

Horses, especially those raised on the frontier, are generally good swimmers when unimpeded. Almost any horse will successfully carry a man on its back in the water. But with these horses, having a pole between them and a buggy hitched behind them which the rushing water swung around in the current, making it necessary for them to swim sideways, the case was a very different one.

As McCormick reached the bank and looked back at his horses he saw at once that they were contending in a losing fight with the madly rushing torrent, and that they must soon drown if not released from the dragging buggy which was more than a match for their utmost strength. And as he looked at them the intelligent animals squealed in the agony of their peril. This was too much for McCormick. Throwing off his coat and tearing off his shoes he plunged again into the angry waters, and swam toward the frantically struggling horses, which by this time were barely able to keep their eyes and nostrils above the water.

As stated before, McCormick was a strong swimmer; otherwise this story never would have been written. He swam to his horses which by this time had drifted some distance down the stream, carefully keeping on the upstream side of them. By a great effort he managed to unhook three of the traces, but with the entire strain of the tugging buggy upon it he was unable to loosen the fourth. He tried again and again only to fail in each effort.

In a pocket of his pants he carried a large clasp knife. If he had this to use he might cut the refractory trace. Swimming with one hand he thrust the other into his pocket and grasped the knife. As all pants wearing readers well know, withdrawing a dry hand from a dry pocket is sometimes a little difficult. When both the hand and pocket are wet, and the wearer of the pants is swimming with one hand, and in a boiling torrent, the difficulty is greatly multiplied. McCormick's hand stuck in his pocket.

For the first time in his struggle with the flood he sensed the extreme peril of his situation. Would he fail in his attempt to save his horses, and lose his own life also? He pulled desperately again and again to release his imprisoned hand. He forgot to swim in the intensity of his effort and his head sank below the surface. He came up strangling, but with his hand pulled loose and still clasping his precious knife.

McCormick was again free to swim, but the tremendous exertions he had made had sapped his strength to almost the limit. He was able to act, however, and the acute danger made action an imperative necessity. Opening the knife with his teeth he again attacked the trace, and finally succeeded after several trials in cutting it in two.

It was a supreme exertion of a strong man putting forth the greatest effort of his life. The boiling, swirling waters rushing about him were peril enough of themselves, but with the added menace of the heels of the horses struggling desperately for their lives so close to him, the peril was greatly increased. The few minutes spent in loosening his horses from the buggy in that raging flood were the most hazardous period in McCormick's life. Very few men would have accomplished the undertaking. It is quite probable that he would have failed in the exploit if he had ever been compelled to try it again.

As the buggy floated clear from the exhausted animals they regained their courage and struck out for the bank. Their strength was almost spent, but they finally touched the bank as a point sloping enough for them to clamber up the bank. McCormick, too, had about reached the limit of his endurance. Only a stern setting of his will enabled him to hold out till he gained the shore. It chanced that some bushes were growing at the water's edge and grasping these he rested a short time in the water before trying to drag himself up to the top of the bank.

When he had climbed to the level at the top he was too completely overcome by his exertions to walk about, and laid in the sunshine for an hour or more before going to look after his team. When at length he got to his feet and went to his horses he found they had gained the land some distance below his own landing-place. Mounting one of them and leading the other he rode to a ranch house a few miles away where he found shelter for the night.

The following day McCormick rode back to the scene of his disaster. He found his buggy stranded about a mile and a half down the river, a total wreck. As is usual with pioneers, he could ill afford the loss; but his gratitude for the escape of himself and horses from the peril of the flood made him feel that he had small reason for complaint.

THE VOICE OF BRYAN

This is William Jennings Bryan speaking. It is in Madison Square Garden in 1924, with the "religion" plank of the platform under debate—his "last word" to a convention of his party. Mr. Bryan said:

"In this country it is not necessary to protect any church. I have such confidence in the Catholic church, which was for 1500 years my mother church as well as yours, that I deny it needs political aid. It was the Catholic church that took our religion from its founders and preserved it—it was the only custodian—for over 15 centuries. When it did this for Catholics it did it for me and every Protestant. The Catholic church with its legacy of martyr's blood and with the testimony of its long line of missionaries who went into every land does not need a great party to protect it from a million Klansmen.

The Jews do not need this resolution. They have Elijah, and they have also Elisha, who drew back the curtain and revealed upon the mountain tops an invisible host greater than a thousand Ku Klux Klans. The Catholic Church and the House of Israel have their great characters today who plead for respect for them whose pleading is not in vain.

I am not willing to bring discord into my party. The Democratic party is united on all the economic issues. We have never been so united since I have known politics, and nobody has had more reason than I to regret past discord. Now, when we are united and face our political foes with dauntless courage, and with enthusiasm never excelled, these people tell us that we must turn aside from this titanic task, divide our party on a religious issue and cease to be a great political force.

The Democratic party has never taken the side of one church against the other; the Democratic party must remain true to its traditions; it cannot surrender its rights to exist; it cannot be false to the mission that it had in the days of Jefferson, to which it remained true in the days of Jackson and to which it was still loyal in the days of Woodrow Wilson.

My last objection is that I am not willing to divide the Christian church, because if it is destroyed there is nothing to take its place. We must stand together to fight our battles of religion against materialism.

There is only one who can bring peace to the world, and that is the Prince of Peace—the One at Whose coming the angels sang, "On earth peace, good will toward men."

Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant stand for God, on whom all religion rests and Protestant and Catholic stand for the Christ. Is it possible that now, when Jesus—the hope of the world—is more needed than ever before—is it possible that at this time, in this great land, we are to have religious warfare? Are you willing to start a blaze that may cost innumerable lives, sacrificed on the altar of religious prejudice? I cannot believe it; God forbid; I call you back in the name of our party, I call you back in the name of the Son of God and Savior of the world. Christians, stop fighting; let us get together and save the world from the materialism that robs life of its spiritual values. Banish the "Hymns of Hate," our song must be "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love."

We print this portion of Mr. Bryan's notable speech on that memorable occasion, solely for the reason that many of those Democrats who are now opposing the Democratic nominee for president are citing Mr. Bryan as the inspiration of their opposition, invoking his memory as counsel and guide in bolting the ticket.

Never was there a more eloquent and fervent denunciation of religious prejudice in politics than that which William Jennings Bryan delivered in Madison Square Garden. Never was there uttered a more impressive warning than was conveyed in his words on that occasion: "Divide our party on a religious issue and cease to be a great political force." And it applies with greater significance and meaning in 1928 than it did in 1924.

We commend to these misguided Democrats who profess adherence to the principles of the dead Democratic leader and who now summon his spirit to sustain their mistaken course, a reading of Mr. Bryan's declaration, as above quoted. Those who have not read it need the enlightenment it conveys, those who have need to be reminded of its undeniable truth.—Jackson (Miss.) News.

finement in the penitentiary is a felony; every other offense is a misdemeanor. An offense for which the highest penalty is death is a capital felony.

In civil cases, plaintiff and defendant, each, is entitled to six peremptory challenges.

The origin of the jury is not known but writers of renown have claimed it for several different nations and it is perhaps like education, the result of the thought of different nations through the years of its development. "Forms of trial resembling the jury system in various particulars are to be found in the primitive institutions of all nations." Unanimity of verdict is required in most jurisdictions, and in order to produce unity, the law at one time sanctioned harsh methods. "Jurors were not allowed to eat or drink, but by leave of the judge, and they might be carried round the circuit in cars until they agreed." Any attempt now upon the part of the court to coerce a verdict or a verdict reached by a jury in any other manner than by fair expression of opinion from the evidence, is error.

"Originally juries were called in, not to hear, but to give evidence. By slow degrees the jury acquired a new character," and they are now the judges of the facts proved; the credibility of the witnesses; the weight to be given their testimony, and are to be governed solely by the evidence adduced upon the witness stand, and the law from the court.

A jury can not be waived by a defendant in the trial of a felony. In Scotland where a jury consists of fifteen jurors, the verdict is that of a majority. With us, the verdict in a criminal case must be "guilty" or "not guilty" but a Scotch jury may bring in a verdict of "not proven," which in law means "not guilty," but it "inflames upon the defendant the stigma of moral guilt for the rest of his life."

In civil suits, when from sickness or other sufficient cause jurors are excused after being impaneled, nine may constitute a jury, but each must sign the verdict. Jurors in felony cases must not separate but remain together and in the care of the sheriff or other peace officer under the direction of the court.

"The term 'jury' as used in the Statutes and Constitution, means twelve competent men, disinterested and impartial, not of kin nor personal dependents of either of the parties, having their homes within the jurisdictional limits of the court, drawn and selected by officers free from all bias in favor of or against either party, duly impaneled and sworn to render a true verdict according to the law and the evidence."

The jury system, though imperfect is the best system yet devised to aid in the due administration of our laws, and if inefficient, it is due largely to the fact that so many good citizens shirk their patriotic duty, when called for jury service. When called for such service "duty and honor alike bind them to be faithful to sacred trust."

Education and Society

Education is the indispensable means by which society shapes its ends and determines its progress. It is the function of the teacher to interpret the past, preserve the present and determine the future. It is impossible to capitalize society so strongly that its accumulated moral strength will not subdue and ultimately end in bankruptcy unless its strength is renewed in each generation. That means that every generation is faced with the necessity of saving society.—Daniel L. Marsh.

It Lacks That

The story is told that one day a famous artist was called in to criticize a picture that a young artist had just painted. The old artist looked at it and snapping his fingers said "It lacks that."

You have seen printed matter just like that. You might not be able to say just what was the matter with it except that it did not look right. It lacked something that the artist tried to express by snapping his fingers.

It lacked the touch that a real artist would have given it.

Our printing is produced by skilled printers. They put the art and personality of their genius into every piece of work that goes through this shop. Phone us and we will call and show you samples and quote prices.

WHAT WE THINK

By Frank Dixon

Most everything delights us, the only thing in which we do not share the general public opinion is the way women treat their husbands. It is only occasionally a husband has a wife worth while.

As yet we have heard no one with temerity enough to say that the wives of the four leading candidates made 'em. This is one source of electioneering that we just can't stand for. I do not know what we are going to do if they ever choose a woman for president.

One thing sure if the skirts are made any shorter they can out run any man.

Yours for shorter skirts.

The Methodists are having the time of their lives this summer. Every time they have a convention they pass resolutions condemning Al Smith. If they do not look out, there will be such a sympathy created that Al will be swept into the White House.

Things are getting in desperate straights, all on account of the women. They have become so independent that there is no living with them. It is just like giving a beggar a horse. He rides him to death. We look for the women to soon disfranchise mere man. We believe that very soon they will become so bossy that they will want most everything, and finally succeed.

Poor men have one great advantage over those who have money, they are not pestered to death by salesmen and promoters. It's terrible heart-breaking job to keep money.

However, the fellow who spends it keeps the world moving.

The campaign is becoming very tame. The East talks Al Smith, the Central West, Hoover, and nobody seems to be working up much of a lather over it.

The farmer has been relieved of most everything except the mortgage, his wife and children and as soon as he educates his children the city relieves him of them. His wife is becoming more and more obstreperous. His only consolation is the old flivver and very soon he will not have even that for consolation.

We had quite a time down to the church Sunday. You know I'm on the board of trustees—part of my job being to see that the multitudinous debts are kept this side of the red line. Well, we needed money bad, so proposed a stunt. Here's how the preacher worked it. He announced, "There's a certain brother among us who has been fool enough to flirt with another brother's wife. Unless he puts $5.00 in the collection box next Sunday morning his name will be read from the pulpit next Sunday evening." Well it worked. The collection had nineteen envelopes with $5.00 bills and the house was packed with people Sunday night.

I notice Mr. Durant offers a $25,000 prize for the best essay of 2000 words on how to make the 18th amendment effective. Hasn't it been pretty well demonstrated that the amendment can not be enforced with 2000 words?

This talking movie business is causing quite a stir. I see where a pretty question raised by the experimenters in talking movies is how audible should a kiss be? Of course there can be no set rule. The thing should be governed altogether by circumstances. Different kinds of kisses call for different "effects,"—lovers' kisses, relatives' kisses, social rivals' kisses and so on. Anyhow, what's the use—the small boy in the front row with an empty popcorn bag to pop will do his bit at the proper moment, no matter what the producers decide. At that, all the disappointments we have suffered waiting for the talking movies are compensated for in hearing Mussolini say "I salute the American people."

A Westinghouse expert says, "Movies by radio may be enjoyed at home in the near future. At least somebody has found the solution for the man who reads the subtitles out loud."

We've always wondered who wrote these little helps for mothers that you see in the papers every once in awhile. We still don't know, but we'll bet the writer isn't a mother. Pipe this last one: 'Have some hooks placed low enough in the bathroom so that the small boy may hang his coat there while he washes his hands and face.'

Reverse

Brown: "How do you find marriage?" Jones: "Well, it's like this. During courtship I talked and my wife listened. After marriage my wife talked and I listened. Now we both talk and the neighbors listen."

KLAN FIGHTING SMITH, STATEMENT OF IMPERIAL WIZARD SHOWS; TELLS HOW THEY HAVE LONG OPPOSED HIM

The Herald has received a statement by Imperial Wizard Evans of the Ku Klux Klan mailed by J. E. McQuillen, 1325, Mass. Avenue, N. W. Washington, D. C. denying charges of receiving Republican campaign funds but revealing a deep hatred for Governor Smith.

The Herald has no sympathy for the Klan or any of its activities, believing that Governor Smith is wholly American and the Klan un-American, but in order to bring out the real opposition to Governor Smith, this letter is presented as follows:

"For days certain propaganda agencies have filled the newspapers of the United States with articles charging that the Ku Klux Klan was being financed by the Republican party to make a whispering campaign against Governor Alfred E. Smith. The fact that for years we have been maligning by such agencies caused us to ignore these statements. Now, however, since they have been advanced by Governor Smith the responsible head of the Democratic party, we can no longer remain silent.

"The Klan has never in its history received one dollar for any purpose whatsoever, that did not come from one of the following sources: (1) From its Kletoken or membership donation. (2) From Dues. (3) From Klans.

"Neither the Republican party nor the Democratic party, neither any individual or corporation has ever directly or indirectly furnished a single dollar to the Klan for any purpose whatsoever. The Klan seeks no political preferment and has no political affiliations.

"For years we have been fighting to preserve Americanism against subversion by un-American agencies and ideas. Our fight against Governor Smith is because he represents these agencies and believes in these ideas.

"Because of these facts the Klan has for years been publicly fighting Mr. Smith by the widest possible dissemination of the truth. We have shouted, not whispered, and Governor Smith need not be surprised that millions of the American people know that he is unfitted for the presidency.

"His statement that the Ku Klux Klan is receiving money from any source outside the Klan is unqualifiedly wholly false. His attempt to raise the religious issue and to arouse hatred is clearly the desperate expedient of a man who knows he is beaten.

OFFICIAL FAMILY OF BAPTIST CHURCH MEETS

PLANS FOR BUDGET UNDER WAY FROM DINNER AT ANNEX THURSDAY

The official family of the First Baptist church was entertained with a lunch at the church annex last Thursday evening at seven o'clock. This is an annual custom, the meeting being held just before the new church year is to begin.

The banquet room was decorated in a color scheme of purple and gold. Crystal baskets filled with cosmos, golden glow and dusty miller were placed at intervals along the long tables. Golden rod and purple wild flowers in baskets carried out the colors in other parts of the room.

The menu consisted of fried chicken, fruit salad, potato chips, rolls, hot tea and cake. About sixty members of the official family were present. This organization includes everyone who holds any position in the various church bodies.

Ray Burke, retiring superintendent of the Sunday School and H. P. Black superintendent elect, presided. A short program consisting of talks by Mr. Burke and Mr. Black, group singing and a reading by Helen Ryan, preceded the business. Mr. Hutcherson then presented the matter of the budget which the church is in the process of subscribing. Cards were passed and practically all that were present subscribed their parts. This was merely a preliminary action to that of Sunday morning, when the entire membership of the Sunday School signed cards.

GOV. SMITH IS BETTER FITTED TO HEAD NATION

Eminent Republican Banker Calls Him Master of Science of Government.

HOOVER LACKS DIPLOMACY AND COURAGE, HE SAYS

Jerome Davis Greene, Rockefeller Associate, One of Many Prominent Figures Who Repudiate Party's Candidate.

Describing Governor Smith as probably the greatest living master of the science of governmental reorganization, Jerome Davis Greene, the banker who is associated with John D. Rockefeller in the management of the vast Rockefeller business and philanthropic interests, has declared in a letter to the Editor of the New York Times that he will support the Democratic candidate.

Mr. Greene, a Republican and Congregationalist, is a director in many great corporations and an officer and member of many scientific organizations. In his letter, which was not solicited by the newspaper nor by any political organization, he comments that Hoover's supporters urge his election on the ground of his administrative ability. That, he asserts, is an obvious fallacy.

Pointing out that whatever success Hoover achieved as a food administrator was due, not to courage or diplomacy, but to the almost autocratic power with which he had been invested, Mr. Greene continues:

"The candid and gallant stand which Governor Smith has taken upon the subject of prohibition by Federal enactment as an instrument of social reform, and the outstanding importance of the issue thus presented, has somewhat obscured in the public mind his legitimate claim to preference over Mr. Hoover in respect to the one qualification which is urged, with perhaps more emphasis and greater sincerity than any other, in support of Mr. Hoover.

Science of Government

"Many, especially those who live outside of the State of New York, are perhaps unaware of the fact, known to all students of recent advances in the science of governmental organization in this country, that there is probably no man in public life more familiar with the theory and recent improved practice of that science than the present Governor of the State of New York.

"Governor Smith has made a record of which the people of his State are justly proud. Moreover, it is a record made by an avowed political partisan who has subordinated his political partisanship in those matters to the higher call of loyal citizenship and enlightened statesmanship. In so doing, he has more than once found himself a willing and welcome collaborator with like-minded men whose political partisanship was hostile to his own.

"If all this be of Tammany, let us have more of it."

Philanthropist Supports Governor

Another eminent financial figure who has added his name to the long list of leading Republicans to declare for Governor Smith, is E. S. Harkness, capitalist and philanthropist, and one of the largest holders of railroad securities in America. Sending a $10,000 contribution to the Smith campaign fund, Mr. Harkness wrote:

"Any nation that can produce a real leader is to be congratulated and I cannot but feel that Governor Smith has demonstrated to the people of this country that he possesses rare qualities of leadership."

Among other wealthy and prominent Republicans who have recently bolted their party to support Smith, are Charles W. Clark, mine owner, and son of the late Senator William A. Clark of Montana, who has voted the Republican ticket since 1896; Haley Fluke, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., who is actively identified with the affairs of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and Thomas Gerald Condon, railroad builder with vast holdings in the coal and iron regions.

FARMERS IGNORE HOOVER

Corn Belt Leaders Refuse to Confer With Republican Candidate

ST. PAUL, Minn.,—Declaring that any farmer who supported Herbert Hoover would be "a traitor to the cause of agriculture," A. W. Ricker, Secretary of the Corn Belt Federation of Farmers, pointed out, in a statement issued here, that not a single recognized farm leader had accepted the Republican candidate's invitation to meet him and "talk over the situation." He said:

"We have good reason for not wanting Mr. Hoover. We know him and his methods. We have been up against his stubborn opposition for eight years."

When Herbert Hoover says that he also has been personally attacked, he probably refers to the things the Republican candidate for Vice President said about him before the Kansas City convention.

A Message To The Unemployed Teachers

We have an unusual proposition to offer teachers who are unable to get a school this term. Your literary qualifications fit you admirably to qualify for a business position. ## DANIELS REBUKES STRATON

RALEIGH, N. C.—Rebuking Dr. John Roach Straton for expressing the belief that "my old friend," Joseph Daniels, would bolt the Democratic party, the former Secretary of the Navy has again emphatically declared, in a letter to the New York pastor, that he will support Governor Smith. Mr. Daniels wrote:

"I believe I can serve the cause of prohibition and temperance better by remaining in my party than by supporting Mr. Hoover, who sat in the Cabinet with Harding with all the corruption and with Coolidge with all the favoritism—the two administrations, which, by flagrant failure to enforce the law or to give it legal and moral support, have done more to harm prohibition than its open foes."

Lesson for October 7 PAUL IN EPHEBUS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 19:8-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—We are his workmanship created in Christ Jesus unto good works which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Bravery
Against a Crowd.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Bravery
Against a Crowd.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—Outgrowing Superstition.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Growing Together in Christ.

I. Paul Preaching in Ephesus (vv. 8-10).

1. In the synagogue (v. 8).
Paul's custom was to go to the Jews first with the gospel, though they were his inveterate enemies. His preaching here was characterized by:
(1) Boldness. He knew that God had sent him and therefore that he was backed by divine authority. This should characterize every Christian worker.

(2) Argument. The gospel message is in accord with the highest reason.

(3) Persuasion. It is not enough that the minister come boldly with a reasonable message. It must be accompanied with persuasion. "Knowing the terror of the Lord, we persuade men."

(4) The message should have definite content.

It was concerning the kingdom of God. Paul's supreme theme was salvation through Christ.

2. In the schoolhouse of Tyrannus (vv. 9, 10).

Paul's earnest scriptural and persuasive preaching only hardened the hearts of the Jews, even causing them to speak evil openly of this way of salvation by faith in Christ. It was for this reason that Paul separated the disciples from them and retired to the schoolhouse of Tyrannus, where he continued his ministry for two years with glorious results.

II. God Working Miracles by Paul (vv. 11-16).

Ephesus was noted for its wonder workers, therefore if Paul's ministry was to be successful God must in an extraordinary way put His seal upon the work. So wonderful was the divine power manifested that even handkerchiefs or aprons brought from Paul's body healed the sick and cast out evil spirits. Everywhere the supremacacy of the Lord Jesus Christ was recognized. Seeing the marvelous power operating through Paul, certain strolling Jews who went about the country practicing the magical arts at the expense of their poor unfortunate fellows, undertook to use the name
"Jesus" in their incantations. Knowing that the connection with Christ was not real on the part of these Jews, the use of His name by them only enraged the evil spirit who struck them and overcame them. The name of Jesus is only powerful on the believer's lips.

III. A Glorious Revival at Ephesus (vv. 17-41).

1. Fear fell upon all (v. 17). News of the casting out of these evil spirits created impressions favorable to Christianity.

2. It brought to the front those who professed faith in Christ, while not living right lives (v. 18). They believed but had not broken from sin.
Great blessing would come to the church if some awakening could come to those whose lives are not in keeping with their profession and cause them to openly confess and make a new start.

3. Gave up the practice of Black arts (v. 19).

This means forms of jugglery by use of charms and magical words. All such are in opposition to the will of God, therefore no one can have fellowship with God and practice them.
They proved the genuineness of their actions by publicly burning their books.

4. The uproar of the silversmiths at Ephesus (vv. 23-41).

1. The occasion (vv. 23, 24).
This was the power of the gospel in destroying the infamous business of Demetrius and his fellows.

2) The method (vv. 25-29).
Demetrius, a leading business man, called a meeting and stated that because of much people turning from idolatry business conditions were threatened and that the market for their wares was weakening. He stated, "This our craft is in danger."
The world is willing to tolerate any kind of religion or moral awakening so long as it does not interfere with its business or manner of life. He further said, "The temple of the great goddess Diana will be destroyed." He became quite religious when he saw that business was being interfered with.

Entering Heaven

The entrance to heaven is carefully guarded. No one will slip in. "There shall in no wise enter into it anything unclean."—The Shantyman.

A Call

A need, a need known, and the ability to meet that need constitutes a call.—John F. Goucher.

Try the Uplook

When the outlook is dark, try the uplook.—The Shantyman.

Annual Entertainment Given By The Senior Class of Yoe High

Observing an annual custom the Senior Class of Yoe High School entertained the other three classes at the Country Club on last Wednesday evening. Decorations were in the chosen colors of the seniors, purple and gold. Streamers of crepe paper festooned the ceiling and baskets of goldenrod and purple wild flowers were placed about the reception room.

Members of the freshman class were required to dress in tacky costumes.
Prizes were awarded to John Wallace and Serena Weems as being the boy and girl in the tackiest clothes. Freshmen were also required to participate in cracker contests and in a physical drill. Some of the members read monologues which had been given them previously to memorize.

Tables were placed in the club rooms for bridge and forty-two and dancing was also a diversion of the evening. Music was furnished by J.
D. Lewis.

Besides members of the high school faculty who were present as sponsors and guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Atkinson.

its maintenance was studied. Talks

We Built Our Church;" "Mrs. Ryan on

conclusion of the lesson, Mrs. Jones served punch and sandwiches.

BRIDGE PARTY HONOR S MISS JESSE BELLE SPRING

Naming as honoree her guest, Miss Jesse Belle Spring of San Antonio,
Mrs. W. R. Hoover entertained Monday evening with three tables of bridge. The Hallowe'en motif was carried out in the score cards and in the decorations of yellow cosmos and roses.

A pleasant feature of the evening was a musical program given by Miss Inez Evans, who sang several numbers and Miss Spring, who played the violin. Miss Spring has been a student of violin in the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Four games of bridge were played at the conclusion of which Florence Atkinson had won high score for the girls, a gold bracelet, L. J. Epperson for the men, an ash tray and Helen Blaylock had low score a framed motto.

The hostess served a salad plate consisting of chicken salad, crackers, olives, date loaf with whipped cream and cocoa to the following guests:
Misses Inez Evans, Helen Blaylock,
Gladys Davis, Florence Atkinson, Dora
Emily Moore, and the honoree; Messrs.
L. J. Epperson, "Red" Baskin, Sam
Graves, Mike Wiley, and Kenneth Rogers.

CORRECTION

In the last issue an error occurred in connection with the figures giving the average salary paid to women teachers in the rural schools of the county and that paid men teachers. The error occurred through use of incorrect basis of tabulation. It was stated that the average salary is $1407.
The average salary paid for women is only $703 and for men in 1927 was 957. The Herald is glad to correct this error and appreciates the fact that attention is called to this matter.

Stop!

There is no longer any need for a drugged and sluggish engine—no more cylinder flooding or excessively fouled spark plugs. The new Texaco has a new boiling point, a new end point and a new volatility. It is a dry gas. It gives each cylinder an even mixture, and your engine a new pick-up, power and mileage.

Our Texaco pump has a new meaning. Better motor results—unmistakably better.

I personally make an effort to make your car needs a real pleasure. We specialize on electrical work which is 90% of your car trouble.

That new car of yours—

There it is, bright and spotless, ready for its first thousand miles of moderate driving to "break it in."

Every time you go over it with a duster or chamois to keep up its outside appearance—give a moment's thought to the oil. Not only to the amount, not only to the regular crankcase draining, not only to the grade—but to the quality. Just the difference between unsuitable oil and the constant use of Texaco will have everything to do with silent and efficient performance later on.

—keep it new

Texaco Motor Oil fights off wear; its body and lubricating quality preserve bearings, cylinder walls, pistons and rings. Its visible and provable freedom from tars, paraffin and gummy residues precludes carbon accumulation.

Your insistence on Golden Texaco will be more and more justified as you drive those tens of thousands of miles with a clean engine that runs "like new." Let Golden Texaco help you stave off motor old-age. Buy your oil under the Texaco trade-mark—and identify it by its clean, clear, golden color.

REPUBLICANS ARE SUPPORTING SMITH

Many Prominent Men Through-out Nation Break Life-Long Party Ties.

Hundreds of life-long Republicans, many of them of national prominence, are swelling each day the vast army of voters who believe that it is the duty of every thinking American to support Governor Smith.

Among the most recent of leading Republicans who have publicly repudiated the Republican candidate is Rudolph Spreckels, widely known banker and business man of San Francisco, owner of huge sugar plantations in Hawaii, and formerly a close friend and adviser of President Roosevelt.

Another influential Republican to declare for Smith is Spencer Penrose of Colorado, mining engineer and brother of the late Senator Boise Penrose, Republican leader in Pennsylvania.

Prominent Financial Figures

One Republican of considerable consequence who has just declared for Governor Smith is W. B. Hibbs of Virginia, president of W. B. Hibbs and Co., bankers, of Washington, D. C.

Two prominent New Jersey Republicans, John J. Stamler, president of the Broad and Market National Bank and Trust Co., of Newark, and Uzal H. McCarter, president of the Fidelity Union Trust Co., of Newark, announced last week that they will support Governor Smith.

Another Republican banker to join the campaign to elect the Democratic candidate is De Lancey Kountz, Chairman of the Board of Devoe and Reynolds Co., of New York.

Western Farm Leaders

Frank W. Murphy, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Corn Belt Federation of Farm Organizations, and a member of the Minnesota delegation to the Republican Convention, has renounced allegiance to his party and repudiated Hoover as "an enemy of the farmer."

Other farm leaders to bolt the Republican party were Governor Adam McMullen, Republican Executive of Nebraska, and L. F. Shuttlesworth, of Indianapolis, former head of the purchasing committee of the Indiana Federation of Farm Bureaus.

J. L. Corouthers of Dallas visited in Cameron this week.

MRS. JOHN YOUNG IS HOSTESS TO TRIPLE FOUR BRIDGE CLUB

With Mrs. John C. Young as hostess at her home on West Eleventh Street, the Triple Four Bridge Club, formerly the Auction Forty-Two Club had its first regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Young used a Hallowe'en motif for decoration. Black cats and witches were in evidence everywhere. Colored lights strung across the rooms afforded a soft glow, augmented by wall brackets and table lamps covered with pumpkin shades. The guests were met at the door by Beulah Collier, who wore a witches costume. She passed the score cards, which also carried out the Hallowe'en idea, and after everyone had found places, she removed a cauldron from a tripod and passed it among the guests. It was filled with small packages containing candies and nuts.

A salad plate was served consisting of frozen chicken salad, date nut sandwiches made of orange colored bread cut in pumpkin shape, stuffed cheese straws and an orange drink with frozen whipped cream. The trays were entered with novelty black cats, which were table favors and were won by Mrs. Bradbury, Mrs. Hayden Lawrence, Mrs. Kruse and Mrs. Bowman. Plate favors were small Hallowe'en figures.

Other than the regular club members, the following guests were present: Miss Jesse Belle Spring of San Antonio, Mrs. Kestenbaum, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Kruse, Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. J. C. Martin and Mrs. Cable.
